

My Project

Generated by Doxygen 1.8.13

Contents

1	Artificial Pancreas
---	---------------------

1

Chapter 1

Artificial Pancreas

This is a software application which emulates the function of a human pancreas. The Artificial Pancreas takes in insulin readings from an external device and sends an insulin dosage as a result. It can also store patient information to enhance insulin dosage and respond to emergency situations.

